Pointed and Strong.

Our old friend of the Lynchburg Advance is, as we have often said before, a levelheaded man. He is very apt to be on the right side of every question which he discusses in his paper. Therefore, we, who have confessed that we have had doubts as to whether there ought to be held this year a State convention of the Democratic party, were greatly pleased to find that he had no doubts whatever on that question. See how clearly and forcibly he expresses his

"If the Democrats of Virginia do not have a State convention to determine a par-ticular plan and platform of battle in No-vember and leave all counties and candi-dates to bushwheek it on their own hook, then our organization will be gone and our victory tost; and even should we accident ally elect a majority to the Legislature with ally elect a majority to the Legislature with such disorganization, it would be so mixed and heterogeneous a mass that we could make no practical use of our forces when it assembles. We want a State convention at an early day, a definite platform de-clared, and thorough organization in every county and city perfected." No doubt the Advance has in the above-quoted paragraph stated the reasons which influenced Mr. BARBOUR and the Demoeratic State Central Committee to decide in favor of assembling a convention. That a resolution in favor of repudiating the State debt may be offered in the convention and be used there as an entering wedge to rive the Democratic party into two belligerent factions fighting each other much more zealously than either will fight Manone seems to be the fear that induces person who are afraid to trust the people to cry out about the dangers to the Democratic party that may result from the policy adopted by the Democratic State Centra Committee.

Our neighbor of the Whig thinks it would be well for the State Central Committee to meet here next week on the day fixed for the meeting of the State Executive Committee. We know of no good reason why this suggestion should not be carried out. If the State Central Committee should meet and again decide that a State convention ought to be held, there would afterwards not a whisper be heard

Hypocrites. fu defending Mr. SHERMAN, MURAT HAL-STEAD tells what the Shermanites demand.

"We ask that the rights of the colored citizens should be respected; that they should be as free to vote their own way as those are who sought to destroy the Gov-ernment. The defeated revolutionists of ermsent. The defeated revolutionists of the South lost their political rights, and a test of the bargsin under which those rights were restored by the conquerors was that the emancipated biacks should have the ballot. The policy of restoration and reconstruction was expressed in the phrase, Universal Amnesty—Impartial Suffrage. We ask that the blacks shall vote for themselves; that the power of the South shall not be doubled as a reward for rebedion; that those who saved the Union of those shall be the equals in the Union of those who tried to break it."

In other words, you invented a scheme to perpetuate Republican rule, and found the inventors." We can answer for this State, we suppose. city that the blacks do vote for themselves, They are under no constraint whatever from the whites. All charges that they are not free to vote the Republican ticket are simply untrue. They are intimidated only by persons of their own race, and this is glee. done for the purpose of compelling them to vote the Republican ticket. In other words, the negroes are free to vote the Republican ticket, but not free to vote the Democratic ticket. They are afraid, singu. putting it. tarly enough, of persons of their own race, but no negro fears that a white man will harm him for voting the Republican ticket. And the harm that he fears from his own race is not personal violence, but social ostracism. If Mr. HALSTEAD would only spend one election-day in Richmond he would be perfectly satisfied on these

On the same subject the Chicago Mail

"If the South is determined that the negro shall not vote, then it becomes a ques-tion of national safety to exclude the colored vote and population when figuring on a basis of representation from the South. This would cut off about 50 per cent, of the present southern membership of Congress, and reduce the southern electoral vote in the same ratio."

Not 50 per cent, by long odds. But suppose you try it. See whether the southern whites will stand in your way. Or perhaps you might get the Supreme Court of the United States to decide that the fifteenth amendment was never ratified in the manner provided in the Constitution for ratifying articles of amendment. What hypocrisy these northern Republi, cans confess. The negro is not fit to vote at all unless he can by voting keep the Republican party in power. It is not for his own good that the Republicans would have him vote, but that he may help into office the white Republicans in the North. All the same the negroes will continue to vote the Republican ticket. It motters not to them that the southern Democrats are their best and truest friends.

Questionable Civilization. The Philadelphia Republican papers are eternally prating about the hard time the southern laborer has and are never happier than when they are suggesting plans for his retief. Hardly a week passes that some one of these papers does not intimate that the South needs civilizing in respect of her relations to her working classes. The New York Evening Post has recently had a correspondent the mining regions of North Carolina, and gives a picture of a mine there which is owned and operated by Penusylvanians and is paying large profits. According to the Post's corresponden these Pennsylvanians "nominally pay their

for his money, with the certainty of losing bis job as soon as another man can be found to take his place." Does this constitute the civilization and measures of relief for the laborer that our Philadelphia Radical contemporaries would introduce into the South? If so, th southern laborer would prefer that the South remain uncivilized and continue to "oppress" him. He will, we imagine, be found incapable of appreciating the beauties of Pennsylvania mining-district civilization and philanthropy.

Virginia. The Foerie Queene was published in 1510, about seventeen years before the set tlement of Jamestown. Its dedication reads as follows:

"Never was the name of the United "Never was the name of the United States more appropriates used than in this tea-t and in this welcome to William O Brien. He is a combatant for home rule in Ireland, and the United States is the great land of home rule in all the world." We of the South once believed that this was "the great land of home rule in all the world"; but when we undertook to carry our theory into practice, we were faught better. State legislatures turned out by the military : amendments to the Constitution made under duress; earpet-bagger congressmen sent from their homes in the North to "home-rule" us here in the South; and leading men and papers in the North now clamoring for the North to regulate elections in the South. Ob, "this is the great land of home rule in all the world"!

The following stinging paragraph is from the Chicago Times:

"There is one advantage to be gained in nominating John Sperman that the Republican party should not overlook. Three or four southern Sigles might be necessary to elect their ticket, and John is the best man they could get to steal 'em."

Can any man be elected President of the United States about whom such language is used in a northern paper, and therefore by northern people? We think not. Besides some of the spirits Joun would have to call on in order to make a "neat job" of another presidential burglary could not come at his bidding.

Why not get Bond to run our State for us? Make him Governor, Legislature, Treesurer, and everything else. He is as autografic as the Car of Russia, But Bond wen't help the bondbolders much. Such action on his part only serves to solidify the clizens of Virginia against oppression. One of these days, if Bond is not particul-orly careful, he will not larly careful, he will get his foot in it.-

Why not, indeed? Perhaps it would be better for him to issue a mandamus compelling the State authorities to levy a tax heavy enough to pay all the interest on the public debt.

Bis Theme Well Handled-The Medalists-· Names of the Successful Students.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] WARE FOREST, N. C. June S.—At 11 o'clock this morning President Taylor introduced Senator M. W. Rausom to the large audience that had gathered to hear located Schaol at the greater of the bar burn. Senator Ransom was the orator before the two literary societies of Wake-Forest Cellige. The Senator gracefully sketched the remarkable progress this institution has made within his own resoluction, and then passed on to discuss universal education as the great neassiay of the hour for the people of the State. He likened ignorance to bliadness and weakeness, and pictured the great calamity it would be to the State if two lifts of its collidren were suchleafy stricken with these things, and then argued that it would be a greater calamity to allow that proportion to grow up in ignorance. It would be a crime for the State to send her soos to barde with inferior and untrustworthy arms, but it is a greater crime to send them inthe with inferior and untrustworthy arms, but it is a greater crime to send them imquipped and ignorant into the great but the of life. This is an age of mind. The cultivated Gladstones and Bismarcks of Europe exert more influence in the destines of mankind than all the armies of the civilized world. He closed with a beautiful apostropae to light and an appeal to the young men to discense it throughout their lives to all about them to the best of their ives to all about them to the best of their ability.

Mr. Rips has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately flavored Leverage which may save us many heavy doctors bits. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to reshaucrety fondency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maindies are floating around us ready to nitack whorever there is a weak point.
